FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MALT PRODUCTS CORP. EARNS SEVENTH “SUPERIOR” FOOD SAFETY RATING

Dayton, OH – For the seventh time, Malt Products Corporation’s production facility in Dayton, OH, has earned a “Superior” food safety rating from the AIB’s Dept. of Food Safety/Hygiene. The food safety audit is conducted by a professionally trained staff of food safety auditors. Food processors who participate in the in-plant audit program receive a complete examination and technical assistance in all areas that affect product integrity, regulatory exposure and pesticide use.

According to the AIB, some food processing companies require that their suppliers be audited by AIB. Audit ratings indicate that company’s level of compliance with food safety regulations and its commitment to providing safe, high quality food products to producers.

A comprehensive overview includes program criteria AIB uses to evaluate a food processor’s food safety program. These are based on guidelines of the Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act, the Good Manufacturing Practices (GMPs), and the Federal Insecticide, Fungicide, and Rodenticide Act.
